AI education

Hands-on classes for adults who've tried AI and want to do more with it, safely. No sales pitch.

1 Getting better answers

How to give an assistant context, examples and a clear goal, ask it to show its steps, and check what comes back.

Context and examples | Step by step | Checking the answer

2 AI for letters, forms and everyday writing

The writing people put off: a letter to a landlord, a complaint, a thank-you, a form. Personal details stay out of the chat.

Drafting and revising | Forms | Keeping details private

3 AI and your photos: edits, fakes and how to spot them

Fixing and describing photos with AI, and how fakes are made, so people can tell real from fake.

Photo fixes | How fakes are made | Spotting the signs

4 AI lab: bring your own question

A hands-on practice hour. Each person brings one real task, and we work through it together on their own device.

One task each | Your own device | Small group

How it works

- For adults who've tried AI
- 60 or 90 minutes each
- A series, or one at a time
- In person or online

The room needs

- A screen or projector (HDMI)
- Wi-Fi attendees can use
- Tables, and a power outlet up front

To book
